WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The fifth statistical report of the interstate commerce commission, prepared by its statistician, being the complete report for the above-named period, for which a preliminary income account was issued in December, 1892, has just been submitted, of which the following is an abstract:

The total railway mileage of the country on June 30, 1892, was 171,568.52 miles, being an increase during the year of 3,160.78 miles. This is the smallest increase in railway mileage reported for a number of years. The only groups of railways which show an increase in railway mileage in 1892 greater than the increase in 1891 are Groups I and G; that is to say, the railways lying in the New England states and in the territory east of the Missouri river and west of Michigan and Indiana; but this is due to the fact that the increase in 1891 was abnormally small. The state of North Carolina leads in railway construction, showing an increase of 212.92 miles. The only other states which show an increase in excess of 150 miles are Louisiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The total number of railway corporations on June 30, 1892, was 1,892, being a net increase of 37 during the year. Of this number 899 maintained independent operating accounts, and 712 were independent operating companies. Of the 761 subsidiary companies 320 were leased for a fixed money rental and 186 for a contingent money rental, the remainder being operated under some form of traffic agreement not easily subjected to classification. There have been fewer changes in the organization of railways during the year ending June 30, 1892, than during any previous year. During the year 9 roads were abandoned; 19 were merged into larger corporations; 17 were reorganized, and 16 were consolidated. The classification of railways according to length of line operated shows that there are 43 companies in the United States having a mileage in excess of 1,000 miles, 24 companies operating a mileage between 600 and 1,000 miles, 24 companies operating a mileage between 400 and 600 miles, 40 companies operating a mileage between 250 and 400 miles, and 871 companies operating a mileage under 250 miles. The total mileage controlled by the 43 railways operating over 1,000 miles was 90,231.74 miles, being 57.80 per cent of total mileage. The railways which during the year were added to the class of railways operating a mileage in excess of 1,000 miles are the Philadelphia and Reading, the Atlantic Coast Line association and the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf railway. The Lehigh Valley railroad, having been leased to the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company during the year, was dropped out of this class. The roads added to the list of railways operating a mileage of 600 miles and less than 1,000 miles are the Old Colony and the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroads.

Equipment and Employees.

The total number of locomotives on June 30, 1892, was 33,186. Of these 8,818 were passenger locomotives, 17,559 locomotives were assigned to the freight service, 4,853 were switch locomotives and 2,374 were unclassified and leased. The increase in passenger locomotives during the year has been 130, and of freight locomotives 680. The total number of cars reported by carriers as their property was 1,215,092. Of these 966,028 were in the freight service, 35,901 were assigned to the company's service and 25,978 were assigned to the fast freight line service. In addition to the above cars owned, the companies report 146,939 cars leased. It should, however, be remembered that these figures are exclusive of cars owned by private companies and leased to shippers for the purpose of transportation.

The average number of locomotives per 100 miles of line is 29; the average number of passenger cars per 100 miles of line is 18; the average number of cars used in the freight service per 100 miles of line is 708. These figures show a decided increase in density of rolling stock over the previous year. The number of passengers carried per passenger locomotive was 63,399, and passenger mileage per passenger locomotive was 1,310,373. The number of freightcars per 1,000,000 tons of freight was 1,627. This is a decrease of 89 as compared with the previous year. There has been an increase during the year in the number of locomotives and cars fitted with automatic couplers and train brakes. The report shows a total increase in equipment of 27,199, and an increase in equipment fitted with train brakes of 65,937, and an increase in equipment fitted with automatic couplers of 75,299.

The total number of employees in the service of railways on June 30, 1892, was 821,415, being an increase of 37,150 over the previous year. Assuming an increase in the total number of inhabitants during the year of 1,250,000, it appears that the ratio of increase in population was 1 to 34. The ratio of total railway employees to total number of inhabitants was 1 to 79. The railway industry makes each year larger demands upon the labor of the people. It is significant, however, to notice that the most of the increase in railway employment is confined to groups I, Z, S, G and 10, that is to say, to the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio rivers and to the Pacific slope. In groups 4 and 8 there has been only a slight increase, while groups 5, 7 and 9 show small decreases in the number of men employed by railways.

Financial Exhibit.

The capitalization of the 162,907.30 miles covered by the report was, on June 30, 1892, $10,226,748,184. Of this amount $4,693,108,763 were represented by stocks and $5,058,088,050 by funded debt. Mortgage bonds amounted to $4,802,570,993, as compared with $4,081,621,075 for the previous year. The above figures show an increase in capitalization during the year 1892 of $307,273,110. In view of the slight activity in railway construction, this increase in capitalization is worthy of especial notice. In large measure it is due to investments by large corporations in minor companies and to reorganization. In quite a number of cases, also, stock dividends or their equivalents have been issued.

Of the total stocks and bonds outstanding, the railway corporations, on June 30, 1892, held as their corporate property $1,391,457,033, being an increase of $108,581,387 over the previous year. Nearly one-fourth of the total railway stocks outstanding are the property of railway companies. The amount of stock paying no dividends during the year was $2,807,403,326, or 60.60 per cent of the total amount of stock.

The aggregate amount paid in dividends was $97,614,745, being an increase for the year covered by the report of $6,496,832. The amount of funded debt, exclusive of equipment trust obligations, paying no interest was $777,719,420, or 15.50 per cent of the total amount outstanding.

The gross earnings from operation of railways during the year ending June 30, 1892, were $1,171,407,343. The operating expenses were $789,997,996. From this it appears that the net earnings from operation of railways were $300,409,347. The income to the railways from investments was $141,060,782, making the net income from operation an aggregate of $582,370,129. The fixed charges during the year amounted to $410,404,938, leaving a net income available for dividends of $115,965,191. Of this amount $67,614,745 were paid in dividends, and $4,314,390 in other payments from net income, leaving a surplus over operations during the year of $14,036,056.

The full report contains an income account for each of the 10 territorial groups into which the railways of the country are divided, and shows great diversity in the results of operation. Thus, the income account of six out of the 10 territorial groups shows a deficit instead of a surplus. These groups cover the territory lying south of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The passenger revenue for the railways of the country during the year was $286,805,708. The receipts from mail service were $26,801,143, and from the express companies were $22,148,988. The freight revenue during the year amounted to $798,310,042.

The total number of passengers carried by the railways during the year was 360,058,211. Passenger mileage during the year was 13,332,898,299, and passenger train mileage 317,538,883. The average journey per passenger was 23.82 miles, and the average number of passengers per train for each mile run was 42. The number of tons of freight reported by the railways as carried during the year was 706,555,471. Ton mileage was 88,241,050,225. Accepting these figures, it appears that the average haul per ton was 124.89 miles. The freight train mileage during the year was 485,402,865, and the average number of tons per train for each mile run was 181.70 tons.

Railway Accidents.

The number of railway employees killed during the year covered by the report was 2,554, being less than the number killed during the previous year. The number of employees injured, however, was in excess of the number injured during the previous year, being 23,207. The number of passengers killed was largely in excess of the number killed during the previous year, being 370 in 1892 as against 298 in 1891; while the number of passengers injured was 3,227 in 1892, against 2,972 in 1891.

An assignment of casualties to the opportunity offered for accidents shows one employee to have been killed for every 322 employees, and one employee to have been injured for each 29 men in the employ of the railways. A similar comparison shows one passenger killed for every 1,491,910 passengers carried, or for each 85,642,282 passenger miles, and one passenger injured for each 178,833 passengers carried for each 4,140,966 passenger miles.

The largest number of casualties to employees resulted from coupling and uncoupling cars. 378 employees having been killed and 10,319 injured while rendering this service. Of the total number killed in coupling and uncoupling cars 258, and of the total number injured 7,360 were trainmen. The accidents classed as "falling from cars" were in this year, as in previous years, responsible for the largest number of deaths among employees, the number killed in this manner being 611. Of this number 488 were trainmen.

Collisions and derailments were responsible for the death of 431 employees.

Of this number 336 were trainmen. This class of accidents is responsible also for the largest number of casualties to passengers. Thus 177 passengers were killed and 1,230 were injured by collisions and derailments during the year. Collisions alone were responsible for the death of 286 employees and 130 passengers.

The purely statistical portion of the report was followed by a review of the statistical division of the interstate commerce commission since 1887. The chief effort of the division has been directed toward the establishment of uniformity in the form of reports from carriers demanded by the various railway commissions of the country, and in the method of accounting by railways.

Certain difficulties in compiling an accurate and comprehensive statement of interior transportation were pointed out, and the report concluded with the recommendation that provision be made for a bureau of statistics and accounts, which should have under its supervision the method of accounting by common carriers. It was argued that such a bureau would assist in the execution of the interstate commerce law, by creating those conditions under which the law would act automatically, and that a body imposed with the duty of judging of the justice or injustice of rates must have at its command complete and trustworthy statistics of transportation. It was further recommended that the express companies, corporations owning depot property, elevators and the like, used by carriers for interstate traffic, and carriers by water, so far as they engage in interstate traffic should all be required to make reports to the interstate commerce commission.

He claims that under this heavy taxation multi-millionaires will soon cease to exist, and the wealth of the country will be more evenly distributed. The plan is generally approved by Populists.

AN EXPENSIVE LAW.

Good Work of Humanitarians to Be Set Aside.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Many of the most eminent judges of the state have publicly announced their intention of ignoring the state law passed by the legislature last June, which forbids the imprisonment or even trial of criminals under 10 years of age with older ones.

The law was the outcome of the efforts of a number of humanitarians, and under it all criminals under 16 must be tried at a court held separate from the regular court. This, it is claimed, will embarrass and defeat prompt administration of justice, while it will also necessitate keeping a second set of dockets in every county seat. It is probable that proceedings will be taken with a view of having the supreme court declare the law unconstitutional.

MUST BE A FOOL.

This Young Man Who Was Swindled Out of $53,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Amos Ellis, a young man worth $50,000, mourns the loss of $55,000, which was secured from him by a bosom friend, Edgar G. Rhoades, upon the plea that the latter intended to build a world's fair hotel at Chicago.

In October, 1892, Rhoades induced Ellis, according to the latter, to begin work with Rhoades went to Chicago and pretended to be at work. He made demands which were constantly met. According to Rhoades' letters business grew apace and great prospects would be injured if more capital were not furnished at once. The money went again in figures up in the thousands. Progress was continually reported on noteheads of the "Trenton Hotel," and the jewelry business, a sideshow, was also reported to be doing well. Finally becoming suspicious Ellis, Sept. 17, with Charles W. J. Myers and Franklyn Swayne, went to see what had become of Rhoades. The latter failed to meet Ellis or show him where his hotel was located. September 18 a warrant was sworn out for Rhoades, but he ran away.

HAVE A PROPOSITION.

Willing to Pay Union Prices, but Don't Want to Sign the Seal.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 7.—It is learned from a reliable source that the Mahoning Valley Iron company is considering the advisability of making the same proposition to their finishers as that made by the Union Iron and Steel company to their men, that is to return to work without the signing of the Amalgamated scales, but at union prices.

It is also said on good authority that the Brown-Donnell Iron company had requested of the insurance companies, which had their mill policies, to be exempted from the payment of their premiums another 60 days. This means that they consider the possibility of their mills being idle another two months.

The meeting between the Union Iron and Steel company and the men was without result. Each side evidently had its mind made up before the conference began, and neither would give in to the other.

TWO ENGINEERS KILLED.

In a Freight Wreck on the Louisville and Nashville Road.

NEW HAVEN, Ky., Oct. 7.—A fatal collision occurred on Pottinger's creek bridge, five miles south of here, on the Knoxville division of the Louisville and Nashville at 4:30 o'clock Friday morning. First section of freight train No. 32 broke in three pieces, coming down the New Hope grade, the caboose of which stopped on the bridge. In this was sleeping Andrew Burke, an engineer, who had charge of two dead engines on the train. Along came the second section, striking the caboose right on the bridge. Down it went, and with it went engine 292, Engineer Higgins, the caboose with Engineer Burke and ten cars of coal, all in a space of 40 feet.

Both engineers were buried under the debris and killed.

POLICE IN POLITICS.

The National Police Review recently published an excellent and very timely article on the above subject. It says:

"It is well settled in theory that a police force, to be thoroughly safe and efficient, should be completely removed from political control or influence. The theory, however, is rarely reduced to practice; but experience has shown that wherever tried the results have more than justified the highest expectations.

"It is a fact, which is too frequently demonstrated, that political control means the removal of good men and the retention of those that should not be allowed to disgrace an important and honorable calling by reason of either inefficiency or dishonesty. It is also true that the tendency of the times is toward improvement in the police departments of the principal cities, but the movement along these lines is not so rapid as could be desired, or as would better conserve public interest.

"To a man who feels that a change of administration means a dismissal from the force, when the temptation is constantly before him to blow both hot and cold as the exigencies may demand, in order that he may hold his job, it certainly goes far toward impairing his value as a good and faithful servant of the public whose interests he is supposed to have in keeping.

"A policeman should have the right to feel that, being honest, capable and faithful in the discharge of his duties, he is not only secure in his position but that he is in direct line for promotion as a reward for valuable services faithfully performed. Police officials themselves will testify to the truth of this, and none regret more than they the frequent and unwarranted interference on the part of professional politicians with their men. A police force that is in itself a political machine is of little value to the community that is burdened with its support, and in view of this fact, which none will dispute, the people themselves should see to it that not only policemen, but that many other classes of public servants should be handled under a civil service system that would insure both better and more efficient service and a lessening of the expense of maintaining these important branches of municipal government."

SENATOR BLACKBURN's speech on the repeal bill is pronounced one of the most brilliant and logical ever made by him. But it is a matter of regret that his eloquence and his logic are not directed in support of the policy adopted by the Democratic administration on this subject.

MANY of the most prominent papers have lately quit the Associated Press and become patrons of the United Press. The American Press that furnishes thousands of papers—the BULLETIN being one of them—with the news of the day continues to flourish, and has already become one of the biggest and strongest associations of its kind.

THE Georgetown shoe factory is putting in new machinery and increasing its daily output. The Maysville —, but Maysville hasn't any shoe factory. Since the subject was first agitated here a few years ago both Ripley and Georgetown have both established plants that employ a large number of workmen and are doing a good business.

CAPTAIN JOHN T. MARTIN yielded to the solicitations of his friends and decided yesterday to make the race for Mayor. His announcement appears in another column. Mr. Martin has been identified with the business interests of the city for years, and is well fitted for the position he seeks. His race for Councilman a year or so ago is a pointer as to his great popularity. No member of Council has given more conscientious attention to his official duties than Captain Martin, and if he is chosen Mayor he can be relied upon for a faithful discharge of the duties of that office.

Mrs. WM. H. COX is formally announced in this issue as a candidate for Mayor at the approaching November election. Mr. Cox is probably the largest individual taxpayer in the city, and is as greatly interested in the future welfare and growth of Maysville as any other individual that can be named. He has served several years in the City Council and has always devoted a great deal of his time personally superintending work on public improvements. Last January he was elected President of the Council for the third term, and his long service in that position adds to his other qualifications for the office he now seeks.

Miss Retta Squires and Miss Lillie Weiand, Mrs. Elmer Bridges and Miss Margarette Heiser have returned from the World's Fair.

Mr. N. S. Wood, real estate agent of St. Louis, arrived Friday on a short visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Wood, of Forest avenue.

Mrs. R. R. Myall and her three interesting children, of Liberty, Clay County, Missouri, who have been visiting friends and relatives at Mayslick all summer, left for home yesterday.

Coffee as a Disinfectant.

The use of coffee as a disinfectant is generally known, but it is doubtful if the majority of people are aware of its true value in this direction. They probably know that it is handy and harmless; but besides these qualities it is really one of the most powerful and effective agents known, as has been shown by repeated experiments. In one case a quantity of meat was placed in a close room and allowed to decompose. A chafing dish was then introduced and 500 grammes of coffee were thrown on the fire. In a few minutes the room had been entirely disinfected. In another room the fumes of sulphured hydrogen and ammonia were developed, and the smell—which no words can express—was destroyed in half a minute by the use of ninety grammes of coffee.

Not Enough to Go Round.

A Louisville Post special from Frankfort says: "The State Librarian is in a quandary. She received the bound volumes of the acts of the Legislature Thursday, and as there are only 3,000 copies printed and almost that number of Magistrates, not considering other county officers, she had to consult the Attorney General on the subject of an apportionment of the copies. That officer advised her to send no more than seven to each county for Magistrates and then send out copies to other officers entitled to them, and if any are left over to let the next Legislature determine what to do in the premises."

Will Use Newspapers.

The power of the press seems to have been very convincing to two of the most prominent and enterprising managers of the Park and Walnut Street Theater of Philadelphia. They have decided to abandon lithographs entirely and resort exclusively to the columns of the newspapers for advertisement. They both claim that newspaper advertising is ten times more profitable than the bill posting methods. In speaking of the innovation one of them said: "The very best medium for advertising is unquestionably newspapers."

Pork Packing.

The record for the week shows some reduction in the marketing of hogs. Western packers have handled 180,000, compared with 205,000 the preceding week, and 165,000 for the corresponding time last year. From March 1 the total is 6,025,000, against 6,955,000 a year ago. Increase for the week 15,000, and decrease for the season 930,000. The average of prices at the close is slightly lower than a week ago. The quality of stock is hardly as good as heretofore.—Cincinnati Price Current, October 5.

Not James Martin.

The man found dead on the Germantown pike Thursday has been identified by Mr. George Jenkins, of Cabin Creek. His name was Bivans and he came to this State from Virginia fifty-nine years ago. He came to Mr. Jenkins' house recently and said he was homeless and sick. Mr. Jenkins had him put on the bus and brought to this city. He wanted to get in the infirmary.

The body will be buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the "paupers' field" at the infirmary.

The hidden pouch was a valuable one.

PROMINENT PRESBYTERIANS.

Many of Them Will Attend the Meeting of the Kentucky Synod and Ebenezer Presbytery.

As stated by the BULLETIN a few days ago, the members of the First Presbyterian Church of this city are anticipating an interesting and instructive time next week. Both the Presbytery of Ebenezer and the Synod of Kentucky will meet in their house of worship at that time. Although the improvements they are making will not be completed, yet the work will be sufficiently advanced for the occupancy of the house.

On Monday evening the meeting of the Presbytery will be opened with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Arrick, of Mt. Sterling, the retiring Moderator. On Tuesday evening the Synod will be opened with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Ervin, of Dayton, Ky., its retiring Moderator. On Wednesday evening a popular meeting in the interest of missions will be held, in which the citizens of Maysville will have the privilege of hearing Mr. Spur, of New York City, a man whose reputation as an orator on that subject has become national. On Thursday evening Dr. C. B. H. Martin will be inaugurated as Professor of Theology in the Danville Theological Seminary. The Synod will probably adjourn on Friday, but Dr. J. M. Worrall, one of the ablest ministers of the State, has consented to remain and assist the pastor in a communion service the following Sunday.

Thus the evenings of the entire week will be occupied with services of the most interesting character.

During the day not only will the Presbytery or Synod be constantly in session, but the Woman's Missionary Society of the Synod of Kentucky will hold its sessions in the basement of the church at the same time. Interesting papers on the subject of missions will be read by different members of the society, and some prominent ladies in this work from abroad are expected to be present and add greatly to the meetings by addresses to the ladies. Among these may be mentioned Mrs. Walker, of Colorado, and Mrs. Janes, of New York City, both of whom have been prominently identified with this work for many years.

The public generally are cordially invited to any of these services, during the day or evening.

FISHERMEN are making some fine catches in the Ohio these days. Bass, salmon, perch and catfish are biting pretty lively.

The subject of the sermon at the night service will be: "The Scriptural Doctrine of Future Punishment." Sunday school at 9 a. m. Young People's Alliance at 6 p. m. To these services all are cordially invited.

N. C. PAYNE, aged fifty-five, a wealthy widower, and Miss Maggie Hopper, aged fifty-two, were married at Lancaster Thursday. Both graduated from the Georgetown College in 1858. They were sweethearts soon after entering college and were engaged to be married shortly after graduating, but something intervened.

THE originator of the Concord grape is still living in Concord, Mass. He is Ephraim W. Bull, now eighty-seven years old, and is one of the prominent men in the historic town. In his garden he still shows the old mother vine of the Concord grape, which he developed from the seeds of a native wild grape planted just fifty years ago.

THE City Council at Carlisle is somewhat worried over the election law. The new city charter and the new Constitution leave the matter in great doubt as to how the election is to be held. Some think the municipal election must be held by the officers of the general election. Others think different, and say the city must appoint her own election officers.

HAVE you decided how you will keep your business before the public? October, November, December, these are the banner months for general advertisers, and this year should be no exception. Business will not be rushing with every one, but those who present their claims for patronage most effectively to the public will not find it dull. Try the BULLETIN.

To know, it and what it bids us do, is ever the sum of knowledge to all of us."

A SLICK "duck" sailing under the name of Galt visited Maysville a year or so ago and tried to work an advertising scheme. He finally left for other fields, but forgot to settle his hotel bill before taking his departure, and it is still unpaid. Galt is now serving a term at Blackwell's Island, having been sent there a few days ago by a New York court for fraudulently obtaining money from a number of business men on the pretense of supplying them with Texas Siftings, together with a handsome etching, and also a good-sized card, in a mythical Texas Siftings' first page directory, and all for $1.

GINHOUSE BURNED

By White Caps to Keep Up the Price of Cotton.

THEY WANT TEN CENTS A POUND,

And Hope by Intimidating Farmers to Keep the Crop Out of the Market Until Better Prices Prevail—Insurance Agents Cancelling Warehouse Risks in the Threatened District.

SELMA, Ala., Oct. 7.—Threats made by White Caps to burn ginhouses of farmers who sell cotton for less than 10 cents are being carried into execution. George Moran's ginhouse was burned, together with 15 bales of cotton. Insurance agents are cancelling all cotton warehouse risks in the threatened section.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

Blackburn's Amendment to the Silver Bill. Quiet in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In his speech last Wednesday, Mr. Blackburn (Dem., Ky.) intimated that he would prepare and offer an amendment to the silver purchase repeal bill, which would embody his views of a compromise measure. He presented such amendment yesterday and it was ordered printed.

It adopts the bill as it passed the house, striking out the Voorhees' declaration favoring bimetallism, and adds to the house bill a provision of free coinage of silver, the difference between the metal value of the silver and its money value coined, to be retained by the treasury for seigniorage, and this seigniorage to be sold for gold—either at home or abroad, the gold received for it to be kept in the treasury for the purpose of maintaining the parity between the two metals.

Two resolutions came up in the morning hour. The one offered by Mr. Peffer (Pop., Kan.), for to investigate the banking system of the country was, after debate, referred to the finance committee. The other, offered by Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.), instructing the judiciary committee to inquire what provisions of the free coinage act of 1873 are still in force was, without any debate, agreed to. A communication from the treasury department was ordered printed, giving the estimate of the total cost of deportation of Chinese laborers under the Geary act at $7,360,000, which sum will be required for the current fiscal year. At 5:30 the senate adjourned.

In the House.

Not even the earnest manner of Mr. Cummings of New York could awaken the house from the lethargy into which it seems to have fallen. There was no increase in the attendance yesterday and the various speeches received very little attention, though some of the arguments advanced were worthy of consideration.

The house at 5:45 adjourned.

AN ARKANSAS STORM.

Great Damage to Crops, Timber and Buildings—Several Lives Lost.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 7.—A Courier-Journal dispatch from Little Rock says:

A terrific wind and rain storm swept over Arkansas, leaving death and destruction in its path. Thunder and lightning accompanied the storm, illuminating the skies almost incessantly and frightened the people. One death from nervous prostration is reported.

The greater damage was done in the southwestern part of the state. In Union county several houses were blown down, four women killed outright and several persons seriously injured. The full extent of the damage is not known yet, though it is known that corn and cotton in many fields have been laid waste.

The town of Eldorado was badly damaged, but no report of loss of life has been received.

In the vicinity of Preston, Faulkner county, the storm was quite severe and blew over a number of houses, killing two persons. Cotton gins were blown down, cotton scattered and much of it lost. A tree was blown down in the yard of Dr. Taylor, at Preston, striking his house, but the damage was light. Acres of timber were felled in that vicinity.

Along the Arkansas river, a few miles east of Conway, in the vicinity of Bristol, damage to houses, fences and barns is reported heavy. There was no loss of life.

The storm raged in Little Rock for half an hour, the wind blowing at the rate of 50 miles an hour. Several buildings were damaged, but no casualties occurred.

GREATLY EXAGGERATED.

Reports of the Damage to the Louisville and Nashville.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 7.—From reports received at the general offices of the Louisville and Nashville company from those sections of the gulf coast devastated by the storm Wednesday, it has been learned that the company's loss will not be nearly so great as the first reports indicated. Chief Engineer Montfort has nearly 800 men at work repairing the track south of Mobile and reports that he will have the line completed within the next two weeks. It is impossible to run trains beyond Mobile, and all connection with New Orleans has been severed. He estimates the company's loss at not more than $200,000.

Archduke Sails for Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Archduke Franz Ferdinand Von Este, heir apparent to the throne of Austria and his suite, arrived over the New York Central at 7 o'clock Friday morning from Niagara Falls. He will sail for home today.

Held For Forgery.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—Milo T. Bogard, late secretary of a building association with which he is charged with looting, was held for the grand jury in $1,000 to answer a charge of forgery. Charges of grand larceny are also pending.

Whirled to Death.

GALION, O., Oct. 7.—Charles McFarquhar, a machinist of the Erie shops, was caught in the large belt wheel and whirled a score or more times until his arms and legs were broken into fragments before the engine was stopped. He lived a few hours.

Struck Against a Reduction.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 7.—A strike was inaugurated at the Springfield rolling mill yesterday morning against a reduction of 20 per cent in wages. Over 800 men are involved.
